Become a Content Creator: Independent Learning Guide

The role models in the video "Become a Content Creator" describe the job tasks and responsibilities of a content creator. Listeners learned that content creators get to express themselves in lots of different ways and share their talents and ideas with the world.

Watch the video "Become a Content Creator" at least once. Then read each statement below. Think carefully about each question before you answer it.

1. Content creators create all different types of products and posts.

What types of content did the role models talk about? What type of content do you think would be the most interesting for you to create? Why?

2. A role model explained that when starting as a content creator "it's going to be a long journey and there is a lot to learn along the way."

What types of skills do you think you need to be a content creator? What skills might you need to learn "along the way"?

3. There are many platforms available for content creators to share their ideas, products, posts, and more.

What online platforms do you know of that content creators might use? What about platforms offline? Have you ever shared any content on any of these online or offline platforms? If so, what types of content have you shared and what response did you get?

4. One role model told us that she loves online content because you can upload it instantly.

What is so great about being able to upload content instantly? What are some drawbacks or not-so-great parts about being able to upload content instantly?

5. Listeners learned that some of the best content creators simply share their authentic selves with the world.

If you became a content creator, what would you want to share with the world? How could you ensure that you were always sharing your authentic self?

- 6. One role model told listeners that they should always "go for it! And don't hold back." This is great advice for people wanting to become a content creator. But it's also great advice no matter what you want to do in your future career.

How can going for something and not holding back help you achieve your goals? Can you think of a time in your life where you were nervous or unsure, but just decided to "go for it"? How did it turn out?
